Dean's Message

1996 marks a turning point for the School of Pharmacy. It is the year in which all of our professional graduates received the doctor of pharmacy degree. The path to graduation is never easy, but the Class of 1996 faced special challenges as the path led across a transition to exciting new places for pharmacy in health care. Faculty, preceptors, and family members all were parts of or were affected by the changes. But none so much as the students themselves!

Many in the Class of 1996 chose not to receive a baccalaureate degree last year in order to undertake the challenge of the new program. Others in the class returned to school from jobs, families and other responsibilities to fulfill a rare opportunity to earn the PharmD. Still others successfully pursued the Nontraditional Pathway. At various times during the transition program, all were stimulated, frustrated, angered, amused, challenged, upset, invigorated, but ultimately . . . triumphant!

This yearbook captures, as well as any mere publication, those emotions. It goes behind the scenes with students, faculty, and staff to preserve in print and pictures what the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy was really like in 1995/96. It is a book that will keep those memories fresh for many years to come.

Congratulations and best wishes to the Class of 1996!

David A. Knapp, Ph.D.

In Dedication to Dr. Stuart M. Speedie

Dr. Stuart Speedie was born in Seattle, Washington and was raised in Washington and Oregon. Following graduation from high school in Roseburg, Oregon he boarded a bus that ended up in Connecticut where he spent his freshman year at Wesleyan College. Following that year, he transferred to Purdue University and pursued a B.S. in Computer Science. He married Marilyn (Wilson) Speedie in 1968. He later received an M.S. and a Ph.D. from Purdue University in Educational Research, Educational Psychology, Statistics and Measurement.

Dr. Speedie joined the faculty of the University of Maryland in 1975 as an Assistant Professor and as the Director of the Office of Educational Development. He went on to serve in a variety of administrative capacities including positions as an Assistant Dean, Assistant to the President of UMAB, and Associate Director of the Center on Drugs and Public Policy.

Stuart demonstrated quiet, but effective leadership within the College. As a non-pharmacist on the faculty, he brought talents and expertise that complemented his colleagues. This background, coupled with his insight and thoughtfulness, allowed him to question some of the dogma associated with pharmacy practice and education that forced other faculty to critically think about what they were doing.

Dr. Speedie has had a significant impact as a scholar, administrator, and teacher on the University of Maryland College of Pharmacy, its program and students, and on society. His greatest effect on me was as a close and trusted friend and colleague. Aristotle described a friend as a single soul dwelling in two bodies. Fortunately, for me, Minnesota is somewhat closer to my current home in Utah than was Maryland. Both of Dr. Stuart Speedie's parents were teachers. In carrying out that legacy of teaching, his influence on students can be summarized by a quote attributed to Linnaeus. "A teacher can never better distinguish himself in his work than by encouraging a clerer pupil, for the true discorerers are among them, as comets amongst the stars".

Best of luck to Dr. Speedie in his personal and professional endeavors in Minnesota

Gary M. Oderda, Pharm.D., M.P.H.

In Dedication to Dr. James Leslie

During over 30 years of dedicated service to the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy, Dr. James Leslie represented the role model for what a faculty member should be: a conscientious teacher, a fastidious researcher, and ungrudgingly serving the school and his profession in a myriad of scientific and administrative activities. He brought his practical knowledge and skills to the classroom and also applied them in service to the school as a primary energizer in the operations of the Pharmacokinetics Laboratory and as its long-time Associate Director.

In addition to these professional attributes, we need to recognize one of his most characteristic personal attributes, which has contributed in no small measure to his professional effectiveness, viz., his sense of humor! Sometimes subtle enough to catch you off-guard, it requires you to listen to him carefully lest you miss a gem (an effective teaching tool). At other times it's not so subtle but always makes a point. In any case, this characteristic, among others, will be missed by both students and faculty.

After relinquishing his regular faculty status, Dr. Leslie will remain active for a time in a research and service position with the school before final retirement. We thank him for devoting so many years of his life in past service to the students and to our school and wish him continued happiness, good health, and success in his future activities.

In Dedication to Mr. Marvin L. Oed

After 17 years as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Pharmacy Practice and Science and Director of the Professional Experience/Experiential Learning Program, Marvin is retiring from the University of Maryland, School of Pharmacy to take on new challenges. Marvin Oed graduated from the University of Maryland, School of Pharmacy with a B.S. degree in 1956. Married that same year, Marvin and Lois have three children and one grandchild. Beginning his pharmacy career in community pharmacy, Marvin owned an independent pharmacy, three Medicine Shoppes and a medical equipment business. A mainstay of Maryland pharmacy, Marvin was honored by the Maryland Pharmacists Association in 1988 with the Wyeth-Ayerst Bowl of Hygeia, the highest professional pharmacy award for community service. He has been an active supporter of the American Heart Association, the American Diabetes Association, and served on Governor Shaefer's Advisory Council on High Blood Pressure and Cardiovascular Risk Factors.

Marvin has always had an open door policy (a swinging door). There was never a time when he was too busy to talk with students, staff, faculty, or the extensive group of faculty preceptors that he has assembled. Marvin's dedication to students and the profession has been an invaluable asset to the School as well as pharmacists throughout Maryland. They say that a man's success is measured by the lives he touches. If that is true, then Marvin has achieved ultimate success in his career through the many lives he has influenced.

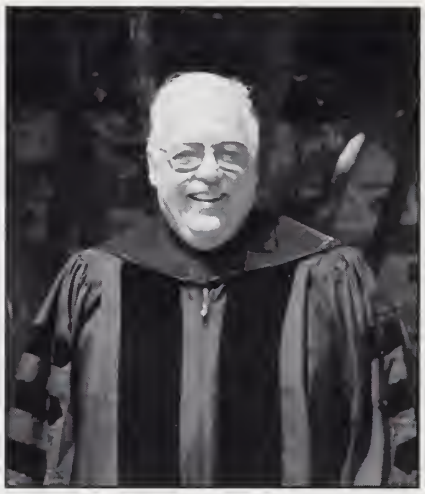
In Dedication to Dr. Ralph N. Blomster



A Tribute and Thank You to Ralph Blomster:

As a young assistant professor at Oregon State University, I was talking with a more senior faculty member about my upcoming interview at the University of Maryland, an interview that necessarily involved interaction with Dr. Ralph Blomster who was chairman of the Department of Pharmacognosy. I shall never forget his comment which was "Don't worry about Swede (as he is affectionately known to his friends). He may have a gruff exterior, but he has the biggest heart of anyone you will ever meet." That statement proved to be as true as any I have ever heard. Through the years, he has shown "heart" time and time again, coupled with a love for the School of Pharmacy and the profession of pharmacy, an intense personal integrity, loyalty to his friends and associates, and an appetite for learning.

Dr. Blomster is often teased about some of his various appetites, but it is his appetite for learning and new experiences that impresses me most. He is widely read and delights in bringing interesting pieces of information to the classroom. Students (especially those most interested in knowing what material would be covered in an exam) varied in their interest in these off-the-lecture-outline pieces of information which he signalled by leaning on the podium. However, I can assure you that students left his classes enriched in their general education as well as in the topic at hand.

His appetite for new experiences extends outside his professional career. It seems there are few things he has not tried. He relishes whitewater rafting, downhill skiing, and scuba diving among other adventures, and even has become an extremely skilled duck carver. He is always the one to order the hottest dish in a Thai restaurant or to jump at opportunities to try new things.

Dr. Blomster also brought his energy and enthusiasm to his field of pharmacognosy. From his research with plants collected during trips to the Amazon in the 1960's, to consulting with government agencies, to contributions to the popular press about herbal medicine, to extremely popular American Chemical Society speaking engagements, to the well-attended Herbal and Alternative Medicine elective course, he has shared his valuable expertise in many venues and has been an active scholar in his discipline.

Scholar, teacher, scientist, adventurer; all these terms describe the successes of Dr. Ralph Blomster, but perhaps none is more important than his success as a friend and as a man with the biggest heart of anyone. We know he will bring an equal measure of energy and enthusiasm to his retirement life. All his friends and colleagues wish him every happiness.

Marilyn K. Speedie, Ph.D.

In Dedication to Dr. Marylin K. Speedie

Dr. Marilyn K. Speedie was born in Salem, Oregon and received her B.S. in Pharmacy from Purdue University and became a registered pharmacist in the state of Indiana. She continued her graduate education at Purdue University and received her Ph.D. from the Department of Medicinal Chemistry and Pharmacognosy.

Dr. Speedie first taught at Oregon State University as an Assistant Professor of Pharmacognosy from 1973 to 1975. Her real life started when she moved in 1975, with her husband Stuart and her infant daughter, to Baltimore as an Assistant Professor of Pharmacognosy. During the next sixteen years, she rose through the academic ranks to Professor and Chairman of the Department of Biomedicinal Chemistry, and in 1993, she became chairman of the combined basic science department, which is known as the Department of Pharmaceutical Sciences.

During her twenty years at Maryland, Marilyn was an extremely active person, both academically and professionally. She spent a sabbatical year at Stanford as a Visiting Professor and returned home scientifically enriched and with son Christopher.

Dr. Speedie has had her share of graduate and post-doctoral students who have gone on to both academia and industry. She has received numerous research grants and has served on the boards and as an officer for a number of scientific and educational societies. Marilyn has been the recipient of numerous awards which include the Paul Dawson Biotechnology Award from the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy, Distinguished Alumna, Purdue University, School of Pharmacy and Pharmacal Sciences, and the Glenn Jenkins Award for Outstanding Graduate Research from the same institution.

Marilyn is a triple threat bitter; she is a great administrator, scientist, and teacher. It is in the third area that most students recognize and associate with her. She was voted teacher of the year in 1974 at Oregon State University, and in 1978, 1993, and 1994 at the University of Maryland. This was capped in 1992 when she was designated AACP Teacher of the year. Through the years, Marilyn has remained available and truly ready and interested in student problems, pathos, and desire for knowledge.

This yearbook is gratefully dedicated to Dr. Marilyn K. Speedie in appreciation for her years of patience, cheerfulness, and goodwill to the classes of the School of Pharmacy through their many trials and tribulations. We salute her as a teacher, a mentor, and a friend. Good luck Dean Speedie.

Student Committee on Drug Abuse Education

The Student Committee on Drug Abuse Education is a group of specially trained pharmacy students who present lectures on drug use/abuse and publish PharmAlert. The five-day drug information program is a polished, comprehensive educational program for middle school students. It covers the principles of addiction, drug action, and the effects of the major psychoactive categories (depressants, stimulants, and psychedelics.) The target audience for this program is the eighth grade, since this is a crucial period in young peoples' drug experience.

Center for the Study of Pharmacy and Therapeutics for the Elderly

The Center for the Study of Pharmacy and Therapeutics for the Elderly was formed in 1979 by Dr. Peter Lamy. It is the focus of geriatric education, research and service programs for the School of Pharmacy. Support for the Center is given in the form of grants from the private and public sectors.

The Center publishes a quarterly newsletter, ElderCare News, which goes to more than 47,000 health care professionals nationally and internationally. Under the auspices of the Center, the Elder-Health Program provides consumer drug education programs to the elderly, their caregivers and to health care professionals both in Maryland and nationally. This program is headed by Dr. Madeline Feinberg. Students may take electives, such as Geriatric Drug Education or Elder Visitation, which prepares them to interact with the older patients to improve medication outcomes. The Elder-Health Program produces more than twenty customer education brochures.

Center Faculty:

In addition to Dr. Madeline Feinberg who has been with the Center since its inception in 1970, Dr. Becky Nagle joined the Center in 1994. She has developed a geriatric inpatient practice at the Veteran's Affairs Medical Center in Baltimore. Also, she has developed an elective course for students interested in geriatric pharmacotherapy and has initiated research concerning drug use among the assisted living, elderly population.

Drs. Robert Michocki, Ilene Zuckerman, Myron Weiner, and Beverly Yachmetz have been actively involved in Center activities. Among the most popular experiences for students are the outpatient geriatric evaluation clinics precepted by Drs. Michocki and Zuckerman. Dr. Weiner's geriatric pharmacology course is also a longtime student favorite as well.

Welcome to the Profession

Congratulations Class of 1996 !!!

The Maryland Pharmacists Association has been behind you during your days at the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy. But, although your formaldemic education is finished, your opportunity to learn and grow as a pharmacy professional is only just beginning.

That's what your state association is for. If you are serious about progress and concerned about expanding the profession you are now entering, we urge you to remain active in MPhA. Find out how you can contribute and help us all determine the future course of pharmacy!

THE YEARBOOK

We gathered at the mouth of the jungle,
Hoping that it will make our wish come true.
"Please give us a yearbook that will make us so proud and cool!"

So, we threw into that jungle whatever we could find
Not to mention everyone else's countless whines.

"What did you throw in?" you ask dear reader.
I'll might as well tell you, you curious scholar.
We sacrificed some pencils, some pictures
As wells as pharmacy students and professors.

As we stood in awe and agony through countless days and nights,
We saw that forest take on a fight!
It rumbled and tumbled until it spat out . . .
The 1996 Terra Mariae Yearbook!

So that is how our story went,
And now we hope you enjoy this year's procurement!
Until next time . . .

and now some thanks . . .

We definitely would not have finished this yearbook without everyone's help, guidance, and cooperation. Dr. MacKerell, thank you for being brave enough to stay as our advisor. You helped us through a lot of bumps and cracks along the road with great work and advice. It's amazing how you tolerated us for so long! And Jeanelle Beltran (Senior Editor), our fearless leader, thank you, thank you, and thank you for all that you've done this year and throughout the past years. You have done so much that one thank you isn't enough. You have raised the standards on Terra Mariae. Thank you (again) for giving us this opportunity to become editors of this book! May life treat you well. Thanks to Tim Munn and Tony Strother for dealing with all our computer problems and our constant "drop-by's." Joe Wenzl, our Taylor rep, thank you so much for everything . . . including the grease pencils, croppers, envelopes, computer advice, layout advice, and etc. You have definitely helped make this yearbook become another hit!

Also, we must thank Gloria Ricks, Mary Joe Ivens, Odessa Jones, Ann Bonaparte, and Brenda Conrad for everything they've done for us.

We give great thanks to Dr. Oderda for writing Dr. S. Speedie's dedication, Dr. Krikorian for Dr. Leslie's dedication, Phyllis Lovito and Lisa Calvert Chalk for Mr. Oed's dedication, Dr. M. Speedie for Dr. Blomster's dedication, and Dr. Blomster for Dr. M. Speedie's dedication. We also like to give thanks to Dean Knapp and Dr. Beardsley for their contributions.

Thank you to all the people who helped took pictures and did layouts! Many thanks to Hanu Ramachandruni, Wayne Hube (Business Manager, 1997 Class Historian), Deborah Cruz (1998 Class Historian), Jodie Nguyen, Carol Robya, Yoonhee Choe, Christine Garnett, and Sam Wu. We also cannot forget the many anonymous photographers who contributed thX We thank you.

And lastly, we thank everyone who joined in the fun of being in the pictures. Thank you for letting us take your picture.
